Prof. J. VENKATESWARLU CENTENNIAL BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS

The organizing committee met on 30th July 2011 has resolved to celebrate his centennial birthday (21-03-2012) in a fitting manner as Prof. Venkateswarlu is the chief architect and builder of the Botany Department as a premier centre of teaching and research with national and international reputation in Plant Morphology, Cytogenetics and other aspects and he is truly regarded as the Father of the Department. Various proposals suggested to mark the occasion are, 1-3 day seminar, a souvenir with his life and work, a bronze bust, endowment lecture, fellowship etc., all of which require considerable funding. While attempts to procure funds from elsewhere are being made, it is requested that all students, past and present, who are proud members of the Department at one time or the other, to contribute generously to make the Celebrations a great success. They are requested to contact the following for further information and contributions.
